

REDES Project

“Master, we have been working all night and haven’t caught anything”— answered Simon— “but because you’ve commanded me, I will let down the nets.” (Luke 5:5)

Relationship, Evangelize, Disciple, Equip, Serve

The Rojas and Chuvé families began the REDES project in 2009 by training, mentoring, and uniting the church leaders into a church association.

God has brought other mission partners to work with them and fulfill Christ’s command to make disciples, baptize, and teach others to obey everything Christ commanded (Matt. 28:19-20). The Lomerío believers are loving their neighbors and serving their communities. By doing so, they open doors and enable non-believers to be drawn to Jesus.

REDES Project leaders continue to plan and implement new projects to meet educational, spiritual, and social goals. Past and current efforts include:

- Raising chickens and planting gardens for nutritional and economic gain
- Outhouse and clean water projects
- Sewing projects/workshops for the women
- Vacation Bible School
- Serving breakfast for local children
- And more

They hope to reach all 28 communities located in the Lomerío region of Bolivia, and then evangelize and disciple the 43 communities surrounding the town of Concepción. LATCOM regularly sends short-term mission teams, which play an integral part in the planting and growth of churches in this rural region.

About LATCOM

LATCOM is a unique mission that seeks to spread the Gospel in Bolivia and across Latin America by training, equipping, and motivating people within their own countries to become Christian leaders. LATCOM has pioneered ministries in Latin America since 1984 and ministers in 13 Spanish-speaking countries.
